ING CURTALLED Easier to Provide STOCK EXCHANGE Christmas Dinners

Retail Dealers Quote Lower Prices for Turkeys, Chickens and Meats; Attempt to Advance Butter Fails.

ID ISSUES GO DOWN

HE best of everything in season ing out if the trees sold have been cut from government lands, which means a fine to the man who cut the trees or to the dealer who sells them. ter still, for those who desire poultry of one kind or amother for the Christmas dinner, is the fact that the price will be lower than at any Christmas time in a number of years. and the signal failure. Only one company at birds that have ever been offered on the Salt Lake market.

H. W. Heagren, manager of the Utah Fish & Poultry company, said last night that the price of poultry would be lower for the Christmas trade than it has been in a number of years.

Butter Advance Fails.

The attempt to raise the wholesale and reliably the signal failure. Only one company at the signal failure. Only one company at davance and the one company quickly divided that the price of poultry would be lower for the Christmas trade than it has been in a number of years.

that the price of poultry would be lower for the Christmas trade than it has been in a number of yours.

"The market is stocked, and then some, with turkeys, chickens and ducks," said Mr. Heagren. "Geese are a little scarce, but the prospects are that there will be enough to meet the demand.

Last year turkeys sold on the local market for from 30 to 35 cents a pound. Today they will be offered at from 22 to 27 cents the pound. A year ago chickens sold in Salt Lake City at 25 cents per pound; this year the best of chickens can be bought for 20 cents per pound. A year ago geese commanded 25 to 27; cents per pound; this year they are being offered at 22 cents per pound. For the Christmas dinner of a year ago the dealers were asking 25 cents per pound for domestic ducks; this year they are asking but 20 cents per pound, and the quality of the fowls is of the best. If one does not care for poultry of any kind, he may take a rib roast of beef, a leg of multion or a pot roast and the local meat dealers declare that the price will be at least ns low as it was a year ago, or perhaps a little lower. Rabbits, either wild or tame, are plentiful. The former are offered for 25 cents each, and the quantity of meat on either is cheap at the price. If one's taste runs in that line, wild ducks may be had, though the price, 31 to 31.25 per pair for the large ducks, is a little more than the ordinary person cares to pay.

Fruits and Vegetables.

The offerings in fruits and vegetables are the best that can be had and the price is a little less than it was a year ago.

The candy and nut dealers are doing a big business and the prospects are that they will increase their trade before the end of the week.

The trade in Christmas trees this year has not been as good as it was in former years. This is probably due to geveral reasons. The chief of the fire department has shown where damage from fires might occur, the fire insurance me have done all they could to discourage the use of the trees and the government is taking a hand in the question of find-
